REPORT

Following the successful launch of the DroidCraft Bootcamp, a recap session was conducted to reinforce key concepts covered in the first session on Jetpack Compose. The session aimed to solidify participants' understanding through review, hands-on practice, and collaborative learning.

The session began with a quick overview of the core principles discussed earlier, including the declarative UI approach, composable functions, and layout management using Row, Column, and Box. Participants revisited the basics of building simple UIs and managing state efficiently, with live examples to demonstrate how Compose's features can streamline development.

To enhance understanding, attendees engaged in a series of interactive coding challenges designed to test their grasp of Jetpack Compose fundamentals. Small group discussions allowed participants to collaborate, share insights, and resolve any lingering doubts from the previous session. The facilitator addressed common questions, clarified misconceptions, and provided practical tips for smoother development workflows.
